Holy Family University School of Arts & Sciences
Human Sexuality PSYC/Biol 299

Semester: Fall 2022
Course: PSYC/Biol 299 Human Sexuality
Location: TBD
Credits: 3
Days/Time: T: on your own online (no class meeting), Th: XX-XX

Your Professors
Jill M. Swirsky, Ph.D (jswirsky@holyfamily.edu), ETC 230
Edward Waddell, Ph.D (ewaddell@holyfamily.edu), HFH 408A

This is a team-taught course which means you have not one but TWO professors! Dr. Swirsky is a psychologist and Dr. Waddell is a biologist, so our combined expertise will help you develop the most well-rounded view of human sexuality possible. We communicate regularly with each other about this course and what either of us says goes. In other words, if you get an answer you don’t like from Dr. Swirsky…. do not go ask Dr. Waddell the same question hoping for a different answer. Along those lines, it is very important that you include both of us on all email correspondence so we can stay in the loop. In other words, don’t just e-mail Dr. Swirsky or Dr. Waddell - email us both! We both want to hear from you :)

Dr. Waddell’s E-mail & Office Hour Policy
My office hours are by appointment only. If you know that you want to meet with me, please email me ahead of time so that I can prepare for our discussion. You can schedule office hours calendly.com/edwardwaddell. Scheduling allows me to divide meeting times so that I can provide ample individual time to each student. If you are unable to meet with me during the available office hour times or would like additional time, please reach out to me and I will try my best to meet you at your convenience. Please feel free to email me with any and all questions you have. I will reply to emails within 24 hours during the week and within 48 hours over the weekend. I will not respond to any emails after 8pm.

Dr. Swirsky’s E-mail & Office Hour Policy
My office hours are Mondays 9-3 or by appointment. To arrange a meeting, you can sign up here (please note the reason for the meeting to help me prepare!). If none of those dates/times work for you, e-mail me a list of SEVERAL days/times that work for you, and I will confirm with a meeting time and/or link. I respond quickly to e-mails on weekdays between the hours of 8 AM and 4 PM. This means that if you send me an e-mail at night or on a weekend… I will likely not respond until the next business day!! Plan accordingly and do not wait until the last minute. Please review the “Emailing professors: Etiquette and guidelines” document. If you send me an e-mail with poor etiquette, I will bounce it back to you and ask you to revise because I want to help prepare you for the working world.

Section 1: Course Information

Course Materials
There is no textbook for this course; rather, you will engage with various scholarly sources such as journal articles, news articles, or documentaries. You will need access to a Netflix subscription (we encourage you to team up to cut costs).

Catalog Description
This course examines the complex interplay of psychological, sociocultural, and biological factors in the development and expression of sexual attitudes and behaviors among humans. We will discuss many broad perspectives on sexuality, including how to understand diverse and conflicting points of view related to human sexual functioning and behavior.

Course Objectives
Upon completing this course, students will be able to:

1. Acquire the vocabulary and basic knowledge necessary to understand the biology (e.g., sexual anatomy structures and functions) and psychology (e.g., sex vs gender, sexual orientation) of human sexuality.
2. Recognize, label, and identify the major functions of the reproductive system (e.g., male/female anatomy, hormones).
3. Critically evaluate and analyze information about human sexuality and put it to use in a socially and morally relevant context.
4. Explore the role of religion, culture, and history in understanding how humans conceptualize, discuss, and teach about sexuality.
5. Identify different types of sexual behaviors, sexual education, contraception, and safer sex practices.
6. Think critically about the biological and psychological factors associated with sexuality across contexts (e.g., sexual minority individuals, sexuality among older adults, paraphilia, sexuality among those with mental disorders)

A note about this class:
Human sexuality is a highly charged and emotional topic. The way American culture (and many other cultures, for that matter!) treat sexuality is very different from how we treat other human behaviors. Sexuality is one of the only areas of human behavior that simultaneously involves intense emotions, forms the basis of fundamental relationships, can influence identity, and is highly moralized. Thus, to understand human sexuality, we need to know about anatomy, psychology, religious/moral ideologies, society, and so much more. Conversations about sexuality cover everything from birth to relationships to laws to religion to physiology to gender roles to sexual identity and beyond. Some of what we discuss may make you uncomfortable or be at odds with what you believe. You may find that your classmates hold a wide variety of opinions that are at odds with each other and/or you. That’s not only ok, but great! We welcome (respectful!) discussion and disagreement because it’s how we all learn and grow. Lectures, articles, and discussions will be explicit, we will use proper terminology and will not “sugar coat” material (e.g., if it’s a penis, we will call it a penis!). Please remember that it is not our intention to shock or offend you, nor to make you believe a specific set of ideas about sex or sexuality. It’s ok to disagree, we just ask you to listen, keep an open mind, and be respectful. By the end of the semester, we hope you will have developed a deeper understanding and appreciation of the incredible things the human body can do, as well as how sexuality impacts so many areas of everyday life.

Course Format
This is a blended course, which incorporates face-to-face class time with online content. The face-to-face and online sessions are designed to complement one another. We are using what’s called a “flipped classroom” model where you engage with lecture content and videos/readings outside of class. We will then meet face-to-face once a week (on Thursdays) to discuss, apply, and extend what you learned in the online portion through instructor-led discussion. This may involve many different types of discussion, including large-group, small groups, and pairs. We chose to offer this course in a largely discussion format so we could take advantage of all the amazing perspectives across everyone in this course. Prior to attending Thursday’s class, you are expected to read/watch the content posted for that week (also see course schedule). By Tuesday night at 11:59 PM, you will submit one question you had upon engaging with the course material. During the Thursday class, we will discuss the topic for that week, including the questions raised by students. Then the Sunday night following our class meeting, you will submit a 2–3 page double-spaced paper reflecting on what you learned that week (details below).

Canvas
The syllabus assignment descriptions, and related rubrics are posted on our course Canvas page. We use Canvas regularly to post important documents, assignments, rubrics, grades, respond to discussion board questions, as well as to make announcements. It is your responsibility to check the course’s Canvas site frequently, in addition to your Holy Family email! If you are new to Canvas, here is a helpful link: Canvas at Holy Family University. If you need assistance from the Holy Family Help Desk you can contact them at helpdessk@holyfamily.edu or by phone at 267-341-3402.

Note: Canvas will not send you an email that announcements have been posted or that you have received a message in your inbox, unless you tell Canvas to do so. In the settings section of Canvas, you can change your preferences as to what types of correspondence you would like to receive. We strongly suggest you update your settings to notify you by e-mail when there is a new announcement or when a grade has been posted.
Section 2: Assignments & Course Requirements **
 Graded work is typically returned within 3-5 days

Welcome/Ending Posts
During the first and last weeks of the course you will participate in a discussion board. Each one should be 2-3 paragraphs in length. The welcome post asks you to introduce yourself and answer some questions to allow your classmates and professors to get to know you. The ending post asks you to reflect back on the course as a whole including 1) your favorite thing about the course, 2) something you would change and why, and 3) 3 things you learned and how you’ll use them in your life. These assignments are graded on completion.

Course Overview Quiz
You are expected to read the syllabus and familiarize yourself with Canvas. This quiz demonstrates that you understand class policies. Any content from the syllabus or the “start here” module in Canvas is fair game! The quiz is graded as pass/fail and your score is not included in your grade. You may attempt it as many times as you need to until you pass; however, be mindful of deadlines. You will not be able to proceed in the class until you have passed the quiz. This means that once other assignments start coming due, you will receive 0’s if you have not passed the course overview quiz.

Academic Honesty Assignment
Plagiarism, whether intentional or not, is very serious. This assignment was designed to make sure you understand when and how to give credit to your sources. To earn full points on this assignment you will review Holy Family’s policies on academic honesty, complete the online modules on plagiarism, and submit a signed contract (more details on Canvas).

Participation
This class involves a lot of activities and group discussions, which will be pretty sad and flat if no one engages. To think critically about the material, it is so important for us to dig into the issues at hand and share our unique perspectives. We will take attendance at the start of each class period via a sign in sheet and document your comments/engagement during class meetings. Both quality/relevance and quantity of participation contribute to your participation grade each week (see rubric on Canvas). If speaking up in class is a struggle for you, come see one of us - we have lots of tips and tricks to make it easier. There are 14 weeks of material (not counting week 1). However, we understand that sometimes life just… happens… so we will drop the lowest 2 grades. This means you can miss/not engage in up to 2 days of class before you start getting penalized - use the freebies wisely! And of course, if there are extenuating circumstances, please talk to us!

Discussion Questions
Every week before class, you will submit a clarification question on a topic that you struggled with from that chapter OR a question that extends the material beyond what we discussed in class. We will then use these discussion questions to guide the in-class discussion. For those of you who struggle to speak up in class, this is a great way to think about the material ahead of time so you have something already prepared to add to the conversation! There are 14 weeks of posts but only 12 are graded - use your free weeks wisely! Posts are due Tuesdays at 11:59 PM and late posts will NOT be accepted. You will not receive credit for a question that has already been asked by a peer… that means you need to read the entire forum before you add your question :) More information and rubric are available on Canvas.

Reflection Papers
You will likely have a lot of thoughts, feelings, and ideas after leaving class each week. Human sexuality is SUCH a big topic, and we won’t have time to discuss every aspect of every topic. Maybe there was a question you wanted to ask or a thought you wanted to share but we didn’t have time. Each week after class you will write a 2-3 page paper, due the Sunday night after class at 11:59 PM, responding to/reflecting on the following:
1) Discuss two new things that you learned about the topic from the presentation and/or readings.
2) Thinking about the other psychology/biology courses you have taken, discuss this week’s topic as it relates to a topic in another psychology course (or other course outside of psychology) you are currently taking or have taken.
3) Discuss two important questions that remain unanswered or are lingering regarding this topic.
4) What is one major take-away thought you had following this week’s topic.
5) What is one way you’ll apply what you learned this week to your life?

Final Interview Project & Outline

For this assignment, you will interview someone who is doing work related to human sexuality and then write a reflection about your interview, what you learned, and how it connects to concepts we’ve discussed in class. This description is intentionally broad, we encourage you to find someone doing work you are interested in. For example, you could interview a lawyer who works with survivors of sexual violence, a doctor/nurse who works in labor and delivery, a psychologist who studies sexuality and media, etc. If you have questions about the suitability of your prospective person, or you are having trouble finding someone, please ask! YOU MAY NOT CONDUCT THE INTERVIEW UNTIL WE HAVE APPROVED THE INTERVIEWEE AND QUESTIONS!! DOING SO WILL RESULT IN A 0 ON THE FINAL ASSIGNMENT. This assignment will be submitted in two parts: 1) Outline and 2) Final interview paper. More information and rubric are available on Canvas.

Section 3: Grading Policies

Grading Policy

Grading will be consistent with the Holy Family grading system:

Grade Calculations

All grades will be posted on Canvas. Final letter grades will be assigned using the Holy Family University grading scale as listed in the University Catalog. Your final course grade will be determined by the 8 criteria listed below. To calculate your grade, add up all the points you have earned, divide it by the total number of points possible (400), and multiply by 100. Then use the above chart to find the corresponding letter grade. For example, if you received 337 points for the semester you would compute the following: \( \frac{337}{500} = 0.874 \times 100 = 87.4\% = B+ \). Note that .4 rounds down and .5 rounds up. In other words, if you earn an 82.4, that rounds down to an 82 while an 82.5 rounds up to an 83.

Section 4: Course/University Policies

Title IX
Please refer to HFU Title IX Policies on our website for detailed information for detailed information. Please be aware of the following:

Reporting and Confidentiality
Your instructor is considered a responsible employee which means that she must report to the Title IX coordinator all relevant details about the alleged sexual violence shared by the complainant. To the extent possible, information reported to a responsible employee will be shared only with people responsible for handling the University's response to the report.

Confidential Resources
For those 18 or older, who are not yet prepared to make a report or pursue a complaint under this Policy, the University provides confidential professional and pastoral counseling. Conversations with professional and pastoral counselors are confidential. You may connect with persons in these offices as noted:

- Counseling Services
  267-341-3222
counselingcenter@holyfamily.edu

- Campus Ministry
  267-341-3261
campusministry@holyfamily.edu

- Health Services
  267-341-3262
healthservices@holyfamily.edu

Center for Academic Enhancement
The Center for Academic Enhancement (CAE) is located in the library on the second floor. The purpose of the CAE is to provide support services for students for their coursework. In many cases they can link students who need extra help in a course with a peer tutor. For more information about the CAE and the wide range of services they provide for students please visit this site, CAE or email the CAE at cae@holyfamily.edu (267-341-3326).

Academic Integrity Policy
The University’s policy on academic honesty is available for review in the current Undergraduate Catalog and Graduate Catalog. Both documents are available in print (School Office) and on the University’s website. Violations of the University’s standards in any form (including but not limited to plagiarism) as described therein or otherwise identified will not be tolerated. Plagiarism and/or cheating on any assignment will not be tolerated. In the event of plagiarism or cheating, appropriate university guidelines will be followed and/or disciplinary action will take place. Any proven incidents of academic dishonesty are subject to progressive sanctions. Responsibility for knowing and understanding the University’s position and policies on academic integrity rests with each student.

You are welcome and encouraged to talk with classmates or with me about course material as you study. However, your assignments should represent your own work and should not be completed with other students. If students have consulted any resources for completion of an assignment (e.g., journals, books, or other media), such resources must be cited in your reference section. Failure to cite such materials will be considered plagiarism. Undocumented use of information from the internet will be considered plagiarism. Cheating includes falsifying data, submitting work from other courses for credit in this course, submitting the work of someone else as your own, helping others to plagiarize or cheat from your own or someone else’s work, or doing work for which another person is to receive credit. I reserve the right to refer any suspected cases of plagiarism, cheating, or collaboration to the University Disciplinary Committee.

Class Attendance, Preparation and Participation Policy
The University attendance policy outlined in the Undergraduate Catalog (2019-2020) states “All students are expected to attend all the class and laboratory sessions of every course in which they are registered. They may not absent themselves except for illness or some other serious matter. In any semester, absences equal to twice the number of weekly contact hours of a given class are deemed excessive. Credit may be jeopardized by absences that have exceeded the allotted number.” Attendance in this course or in any course is essential. Your understanding of material from one week typically serves as a foundation for material in upcoming weeks of the session. An excessive absence form may be submitted to the dean’s office for any student who violates the attendance policy set forth by the university. Students are expected to read the materials, ask questions, give comments, and, in a word, participate. Course grades may be negatively affected by repeated absences and/or lack of participation. We will take attendance each week via a sign in sheet. You may NOT sign in anyone other than yourself.

Technology Policy
We understand that many students like to follow along with the PowerPoint on their laptops in class, and that is fine. We reserve the right to change the laptop policy at any time during the semester based on student performance. There is no reason you need to be on your phone in class. It is rude and distracting and makes it difficult to pay attention. If we see you on your phone we WILL ask you to put it away. You have been warned! If there are extenuating circumstances (e.g., you are a parent monitoring communication from a babysitter), please let us know ahead of time.

Disability Disclosure Statement
Holy Family University serves a variety of learning styles and needs and is committed to accessibility. If you anticipate or experience any obstacles in this course, you may contact the Office of Disability Services for assistance (contact information below). In accordance with the Americans with Disabilities Act of 1990 (ADA) and Section 504 of the Rehabilitation Act of 1973, Holy Family University’s Office of Disability Services provides reasonable accommodations to qualified students with a disability (physical, psychological, learning, ADHD, chronic health-related, etc.). Please note that accommodation plans will not be retroactively implemented. More details regarding policy can be found in the Student Handbook, pages 17-19. The Office of Disability Services is located in the Campus Center room 206. Students may contact this office at 267-341-3231 or disAbilityservices@holyfamily.edu for information at any point. Canvas’ statement of commitment to accessibility can also be found here. Canvas also has a variety of options that help support students which include the following: Screen Readers: VoiceOver (for Macs), JAWS and NVDA for PCs. Please note that there is not screen reader support for Canvas. For Macs please use Safari to utilize VoiceOver, Internet Explorer 11 for JAWS and Firefox for NVDA. To access the screen reader option, use the Canvas page navigation menu.

Late Assignments
You are expected to turn in all assignments when they are due and to complete all readings/assignments in a timely fashion to keep up with this course. Make-up assignments can be offered at our discretion, but we typically require advance notice and/or an extremely good reason, as well as documentation (e.g., doctors note). In the event of an emergency situation, you MUST email both Drs. Swirsky AND Waddell BEFORE an assignment is due and provide documentation of the emergency. Missing an assignment without a valid excuse will result in a zero for that assignment. Late assignments may or may not be accepted at our discretion. We understand that you are humans, and are balancing a mountain of other expectations and responsibilities, but part of that responsibility involves learning how to handle situations when they come up. When in doubt, ALWAYS speak up before something is due – it’s much easier for us to be flexible and accommodating before the deadline. Having computer or Internet difficulties before an assignment is due is not a valid excuse for turning in an assignment late. Therefore, you must plan ahead to ensure you will have adequate time to complete each assignment!!!

Appropriate Use of Course Materials
The materials distributed in this class and on Canvas may be protected by copyright and are provided solely for the educational use of students enrolled in this course. You are not permitted to redistribute them for purposes unapproved by the instructor; in particular, you are not permitted to post course materials or notes from lectures on commercial websites. Unauthorized use of course material may be considered academic misconduct. In addition, you are not permitted to video record or audio record lectures and discussions without written approval from the instructor. Please be aware that class content and discussions contain information for students enrolled in the course only and no other individuals except the enrolled student should be able to access or engage with class content, either during or outside of class meetings.

Self-disclosure & Confidentiality
The educational process involves exposure to challenging topics and ideas. Some of these topics and ideas may provoke feelings of discomfort. If this should occur, please reach out to the free services offered on campus from the Counseling Services Center (link to make appointment and/or contact information). There will be opportunities in this class to talk about yourself and share personal thoughts, feelings, opinions, ideas, and experiences both in class and in course assignments. You are responsible for monitoring your own level of comfort in self-disclosure. You will not be expected to disclose more about yourself than you choose to share. In the same respect, self-disclosure is a process that must be used with discretion and specific to course content and discussion. It should not detract from the lesson plan or normal group process of course learning objectives.

Both the instructor and students will need to protect the confidentiality of persons who may be described in various aspects of this course. Please practice good professional discretion at all times. Some of the material covered in readings, lectures, and discussions may be considered controversial or personal. Please be aware of this and exercise common sense, sensitivity, and courtesy in interactions related to class material. That said, sometimes things come up or come out, be respectful of this and do not discuss classmates’ personal information with others outside of class. Your comments are not confidential where state law requires the reporting of threats of harm, violence, or child abuse and neglect (from evidence or suspicion), and when information is subpoenaed by the courts.

Diversity Statement
This classroom supports an inclusive learning environment where diversity and individual differences are understood, respected, appreciated, and recognized as a source of strength. Students will:

- Be encouraged to be open and curious about others
- Demonstrate a willingness to examine one’s own beliefs in the context of others’ similar and dissimilar beliefs
- Demonstrate confidence in expressing one’s own views about diversity as well as sensitivity listening to and absorbing others’ views
- Demonstrate consideration of alternate philosophies about culture and society that demonstrates open-mindedness

Consideration, Professionalism, & Netiquette
You will treat your fellow classmates (and instructors!) with professionalism and respect. It is acceptable to disagree, but not to attack or degrade someone for their opinion. This includes, but is not limited to, inappropriate language, rude remarks and insulting comments; none of which will be tolerated. Students are expected to handle themselves in a professional manner during class discussions. If we feel that a statement made in class is disrespectful and/or derogatory, you will be contacted via email and given a warning for the first offense. Subsequent disrespectful and/or derogatory comments will be subject to progressive sanctions, such as failing the given assignment. Others in the class may differ in religious/cultural background, sexual orientation, and/or gender identity or gender expression. This classroom is a space where people can feel respected and comfortable in their opinions.

Discussion Question Description & Rubric

Every week before class, you will submit a clarification question on a topic that you struggled with from that chapter OR a question that extends the material beyond what we discussed in class. We will then use these discussion questions to guide the in-class discussion. There are 14 weeks of posts but only 12 are graded - use your free weeks wisely! Posts are due Tuesdays at 11:59 PM and late posts will NOT be accepted. You will not receive credit for a question that has already been asked by a peer… that means you need to read the entire forum before you add your question :) More information and rubric are available on Canvas.

- A question may only be posed once. This means you need to read what others have posted before you submit your post! Your response should contribute something new. Duplicate questions will not earn full points.
- Questions should be based on science. This means no “I think”, “I feel”, “I believe”, or “in my opinion” statements. This isn’t the place to talk about feelings or opinions, if you aren’t sure about something, look it up!
- Direct quotes are not permitted. All content should be properly paraphrased in your own words and cited.
- Posts must either be clarification questions, discussion questions, or extensions of the material. Questions that could be answered with a quick Google search or from reading the week’s materials will NOT earn points.
  - NO: When does gender dysphoria start?
  - YES: I don’t understand how such young children could feel like they were born into the wrong body. Are those feelings pushed on them by society and the media? Are they biological?

Reflection Paper Description & Rubric

You will likely have a lot of thoughts, feelings, and ideas after leaving class each week. Human sexuality is SUCH a big topic, and we simply won’t have time to discuss every aspect of every topic. Maybe there was a question you wanted to ask or a thought you wanted to share but we didn’t have time to get to you. Each week after class you will write a 2-3 page paper responding to/reflecting on the following:

1) Discuss two new things that you learned about the topic from the presentation and/or readings.
2) Thinking about the other psychology/biology courses you have taken, discuss this week’s topic as it relates to a topic in another psychology course (or other course outside of psychology) you are currently taking or have taken.
3) Discuss two important questions that remain unanswered or are lingering regarding this topic.
4) What is one major take-away thought you had following this week’s topic.
5) What is one way you’ll apply what you learned this week to your life?

While this is your place to reflect, this is a science course, and your statements should be based on and backed up by science. This means no “I think”, “I feel”, “I believe”, or “in my opinion” statements. This isn’t the place to talk about feelings or opinions, if you aren’t sure about something, look it up! Additionally, direct quotes are not permitted. All content should be properly paraphrased in your own words and cited. We are not looking for a summary, so do not just recap the class for us – we were there :) The goal of this assignment is for you to process and extend on what was discussed and to take it to the next level.

Final Interview Paper Description & Rubric

For this assignment, you will interview someone who is doing work related to human sexuality and then write a reflection about your interview, what you learned, and how it connects to concepts we’ve discussed in class. This description is intentionally broad, we encourage you to find someone doing work you are interested in. For example, you could interview a lawyer who works with survivors of sexual violence, a doctor/nurse who works in labor and delivery, a psychologist who studies sexuality and media, etc. If you have questions about the suitability of your prospective person, or you are having trouble finding someone, please ask!

YOU MAY NOT CONDUCT THE INTERVIEW UNTIL WE HAVE APPROVED THE INTERVIEWEE AND QUESTIONS!! DOING SO WILL RESULT IN A 0 ON THE FINAL ASSIGNMENT.

Your interviewee must:
- Have at least a Master's degree
- Work in a field doing something related to human sexuality
- Have been at their current job for at least 5 years
- NOT be your parent or sibling (other family members/family friends are fine)

This assignment will be submitted in two parts:
1. Outline (30 points)
2. Final interview paper (120 points)

Part I. Outline

You will submit some basic information about your proposed interviewee, including their name, contact information, vocation (where they work), years at their job, how you know them, and a brief rationale for why you chose them (be sure to clearly note their connection to human sexuality). You will also submit the proposed date/time of the interview (it’s ok if it’s approximate). This means that you will have already needed to identify someone and contact them to ask if they are okay with being interviewed!! You will also submit an outline of the questions you plan to ask. You are not glued to these questions and can certainly add new ones on the spot if you think of anything. Please identify 15-20 potential questions - you do not need to ask them all at the interview, we just want you to go in with a well thought out list.

Part II. Paper

Your paper should be 5-8 pages in length (double spaced) and should start out by identifying the person you interviewed, the career/position they are in, and your rationale for choosing them to interview. From there, you should summarize your interview – do not simply string together questions and answers – organize the conversation into themes and use this as an opportunity to reflect on what you learned. In other words, connect their responses to things we’ve talked about in class. Papers should be grammatically correct and properly cited.
